View the video above featuring EMC Security customers that are thankful they installed monitored smoke detectors in their home. A few months ago, their home was quickly overcome with smoke and fire while they were just a few yards away, in the backyard. If it wasn't for EMC Security, the damage and loss would've been much greater.

Adding smoke or heat detectors to your home security system may very well be the best decision you make when it comes to the safety and security of your loved ones.

And, your monthly monitoring cost doesn’t change when you add fire monitoring to your security system.
